THIS WEEK 27-30 JUNE 2016

PLAYING WITH FIRE

Every July Fourth, Americans gather at parades, barbecues and other events to celebrate our nation's independence. Traditionally, fireworks are the highlight of these celebrations. All too often, though, the night ends badly due to someone's carelessness. Unfortunately, I speak from experience.

DOZING AND DRIVING

If you're a designated driver, you have to do more than just stay sober. You also have to stay awake and alert. After all, it won't matter to the guardrail whether you're drunk or asleep. Either way, it can put your lights out — forever.

TRUST YOUR TRAINING

When I found out my application for the Fixed-Wing Multi-engine Qualification Course was approved and I was selected to attend, I was very excited. However, I was a little apprehensive — not about the overall course, just one area in particular.
